

UHAI- CT Program Conducts Gender Based Violence (GBV) and Violence Against Children (VAC) Training for Facility Health Care Workers to Provide Services to GBV and VAC Survivors – July 2013.

Hilda Joseph, an enrolled nurse at Iringa Frelimo Hospital examines a human female model in practical lessons on how to take medical samples from a woman who has undergone sexual molestation. This was part of violence against children and gender based violence (VAC/GBV) training for health care workers that was conducted in Njombe Region as part of the UHAI-CT program.

Participants in the GBV/VAC training for health care workers engage in group discussions. The two -week training was conducted by the UHAI-CT program in Njombe.

Participants of the GBV/VAC training for health care workers that was organised by the UHAI-CT program pose for a group photo along with their trainers after completing the course. A total of 27 health care workers from different areas of the country qualified in this wave of training.